

Foundation Frison Horta aims to promote Art Nouveau and its link with Eastern cultures.

The Foundation fosters greater understanding of crafts and traditions of Eastern populations, particularly of India.

The Foundation is housed in the beautiful Maison Frison designed by Belgian architect Victor Horta in 1894. Not only is it the only Horta house in the Historical city centre of Brussels but it's also exceptionally the only Horta house that is lived in and a foundation. A Living Museum.
