Amblard Chocolat was born of a simple conviction: chocolate can be both intense and refined, with no added sugar. Behind this project, Arthur Amblard, a passionate chocolatier trained in several renowned houses in Europe, is proposing a new way of experiencing gourmandise - more conscientiously, without compromising on taste or quality. Ethical, textured and minimalist, this box gives meaning to the act of giving. From fruit to bean. From bean to chocolate. And from the shell... to the case. Each creation is imagined, crafted and refined in our Sablon workshop in Brussels.
